OTHER SIDE OF REDUCED PRICES

As Seen by the United States Butchers

THEY CLAIM PACKERS ARE CURRYING FAVOR

With Public To Ease Up Certain Matters

Butchers Declare That Big Packers Are Alarmed by Impending Federal Prosecutions and Want To Get the Good Will of the People and Incidentally Make the Retailer the Go Between"

Chicago Nov 17 — All this talk about reduced prices for meats has not helped itself yet The big packers are alarmed by impending federal prosecutions and are trying to curry favor with the public and to make the retailer the go between in the whole matter

Is the explanation here today of what Master Butchers of America call the interviews recently given publicity by J Ogden Armour and other packing barons in which the statement was made that meat prices would go up the toboggan and that the consumer would soon find it cheaper to buy porterhouse steak than to go without

"I can be assured by the butchers" said the Master Butchers of America "that not in newspaper interviews but by signed contracts that reduce the price of meats a certain amount and keep them there for say three months we will oblige it to make corresponding reductions to our customers

"There is no doubt the retail butchers of Chicago are angry At the reductions of alleged impositions by packers were frequent and the charge was freely made that the reductions already put into effect were not borne out by the facts

"We are helpless" said Vice President Edward Levy of the butchers We don't make big profits They say why our packers sell for cents for lamb and charge us cents But what do we get for twelve cents for? For the rejections of chops that come out of a pound lamb All the delicacies are lower and if we make 15 cents on a lamb that costs five dollars we are lucky You must remember that the packers make their profits when they sell to us We get 15 cents a pound not only for the desirable flanks and the chops but also for big wooden pieces that have put in their place the worthless plucks the tongues and hearts and lots of other stuff worse than that

The butchers are unanimous in saying that present prices are unreasonable But at this time last year when the packers giving out information that heavy price cuts are to be effected later at once or in the future

SAN FRANCISCO STARTING OVER

City Purges Herself of All Corruption

RECENT ELECTION IS TURNING POINT

Amendments Favor Municipal Legislation

Big Interests Make Hard Fight at Polls but They Defeat Only One Amendment and That Was for the City Employment Bureau—People Secure What They Want After a Hard Battle

San Francisco Nov 17 —Following the adoption at Tuesdays special election of a series of charter amendments which for the first time in the history of this corporation dominated puts San Francisco with the front of cities favoring advanced municipal legislation The vote will be officially canvassed today by the board of supervisors prior to the presentation of the amendments to the legislature for ratification in January

Big business which opposed most of the amendments probably will make its last stand in legislature but there is but little likelihood that the legislature will fail to ratify as it is not now controlled by the railroads

The big problem of whether San Francisco once corrupt has purged herself of corruption by the passage of these amendments remains to be seen The amendments themselves mark a long step in advancing the science of municipal government in this country and several theories involved have never been tried in this country The most vital amendment of all which establishes a majority rule by simplifying the official ballot carried overwhelmingly Big business put up a hard fight at the polls but defeated only one amendment against which it fought and that was the provision for the establishment of a free employment bureau which failed by a few hundred votes

The feature of the amendment providing for the initiative and referendum and recalls the public utilities franchises and all franchise renewals must be submitted to a popular vote This is believed to insure as long as the amendment stands the impossibility of a renewal of the recent great scandals brought to the purchase of municipal supplies from city officials

The People Win

Another amendment provides that any one presenting a petition signed by even or more voters indorsers may become a candidate for office and have the right to file a statement of principles running from 100 to 300 words which will be printed by the city and mailed with a sample ballot to voter

The amendment providing for the elimination of the party circle on the official ballots also provides for the rotation of the names of the candidates and in addition provides putting the names in a different order in different districts so that each candidate will have the opportunity to head the ticket in some part of the city

Another amendment was that providing a minimum wage of three dollars a day for all laborers and an eight hour day This was fought desperately on principle by the so called interests but was readily adopted

When the amendments were first submitted the Interests proposed a number which failed in the special election

The upshot of the whole election result is that the people have secured a hard and fast grip on the ballot boxes that they signified their desire to run the city intelligently demonstrated that they knew what they wanted and then get it Whether the people will continue to show discernment now that they have the political power however in their own hands depends say the reformers upon the continued efforts of the series of civic decency to prevent corruptionists presenting bad amendments and securing a favorable vote by the liberal use of money

San Francisco has started right they say but the forces of decency must wage a continuous fight against corruption to retain for the people what they now have

CRISIS THREATENS PRESENT SYSTEM

King George Gets Busy and Conferences Are Held

London Nov 17 —Personal efforts on the part of King George to effect a settlement in the crisis now threatening the present system of English government have failed Instead the house of lords is today face to face with an ultimatum from the Liberals that before November 28 they must consent to pass the bill limiting the power of veto else the issue will be forced before the people in a general election

This development is the result of King Georges hasty visit to London yesterday and his summoning his privy council The king it was learned today deems the present crisis threatening to the entire system of English government He therfore came to London with the hope of effecting a compromise between the Liberals and the Conservatives

This was thoroughly discussed both at the meetings of the privy council and the cabinet and still later when he received Premier Asquith for a personal consultation

PROHIBITION ON THE WANE

Says Secretary of the Brewers' Association

LIBERAL MINDED WIN BIG VICTORY

And Drys Are Overwhelmingly Defeated

Secretary Fox Refers to Recent Results of Elections in Missouri Florida and Oregon—Gives His Ideas Concerning Local-Option Laws Now in Operation in Different States

New York Nov 17—Phohibition is on the wane in this country according to a confidential circular sent out to the members of the United States Brewers association This statement compiled by Hugh F Fox secretary of the association reviews the results of the recent election and characterizes them as a sweeping victory for the liberal minded

According to Fox there was a real fight with the issue between wet and dry sharply defined in Missouri Florida and Oregon and the drys were overwhelmingly defeated Summing up the contest in these states Fox says for the benefit of its members

In Missouri the license forces have carried the state defeating the prohibition referendum by a majority exceeding 20 000 Leaving Oregon state wide prohibition is defeated by a majority of 10 000 and the unit of local option laws changed from county to city

In Florida the proposition to amend the present local option feature of the constitution and insert a state wide prohibition forever feature was defeated by 6 500 A majority of the counties of the state voted against the amendment —

Summing up the result in the nation Fox says

It is evident that the so called prohibition tidal wave has almost entirely subsided and that there is little likelihood of it regaining what it has lost or gaining new ground Concurrently it appears no less clear that the people have proven upon a firm administration of just laws governing the liquor traffic The elections as a whole offer a remarkable popular endorsement of the American theories of home rule and the license system Naturally the change of sentiment is most striking in the South but north and west and east the influences of reactionary are equal at work

Baker's Statement

Columbus O Nov 17 —Purley A Baker national superintendent of the Anti Saloon league who is presiding at a conference of eighty anti saloon leaders of the country at Westerville near here said today in reply to the statement made by the National Brewers association headquarters at New York

"Prohibition is not on the wane anywhere in this country It is on the increase in every state We are going to press for larger local option units in every legislature

The Anti Saloon league had no thought of carrying Missouri We realized that we had no show there In Florida our defeat was small only 700 The whites voted overwhelmingly for the constitutional amendment The brewers of the country paid the poll tax for thousands of negroes down there The black belt caused the state to go wet

"How they can prove our loss in Ohio I dont understand in view of the fact that nearly every man who stood for the dry proposition ran ahead of his ticket If in this county for example Fox who ran over ran behind their ticket although they may have been elected That was true all over the country

I would point to the success to Nebraska where the candidate for governor who stood for the liquor traffic was defeated although he was a Democrat

TO INVESTIGATE THE EXPRESS COMPANIES

Association of Railway Commissioners Decide on This

Washington Nov 17 — An investigation of express telegraph and telephone companies was decided upon by the National Association of Railway commissioners at their convention yesterday A motion was adopted to appoint a special commission to conduct an investigation into the services and rates of the express companies Another committee will investigate the rates charged by the telegraph and telephone companies

The greater part of the meeting was devoted to discussion of state and federal railway commissioners Several of the members express their opinion that they should be more harmonious relations

Commissioner Clemens of the interstate commerce commission said that the commission desired cordial co operation as far as possible with the state commission He thought that the fact that there was an occasional failure to agree should not be regarded as indicating a lack of cooperative spirit

THE OHIO TAX COMMISSION

Makes Its Report to Auditor of State

GROSS EARNINGS OF RAILROADS IN OHIO

State Will Collect Less Than Last Year

Because of Physical Impossibility of Separating Intrastate and Interstate Business the Commission Fixes an Arbitrary Sum for This Years Taxation—Total Amount Certified Today by Commission

Columbus O Nov 17 —The Ohio tax commission today certified to the auditor of state the gross earnings of railroads doing an interstate business in Ohio on which the roads will have to pay the four per cent tax under the new law

According to authorities the state will collect less from the railways under the new law than it did under the old

An official of one of the largest roads said that his road alone would save $30 000

Because of the physical impossibility of separating intrastate and interstate business done by the roads the commission fixed an arbitrary sum for this years taxation which will bring the tax about equal to that paid by the roads last year

A new system will be introduced by the railways after this year whereby the business will be kept separate so that the intrastate business can be found

The total amount certified for taxation is $ 19 701 for all the roads Of this the Baltimore & Ohio will have to pay on $1 044 821 The Big Four $2 115 647 the Cleveland & Pittsburg $2 92 60 the Pittsburg Chicago Cincinnati & St Louis $2 65 1 and the Pittsburg Fort Wayne & Chicago $2 61 84

LONDON GIVEN SEVERE SHOCK

When Yankee Marines Invade the City.

JACKIES ARE SHOWN EVERY HOSPITALITY

And the British Cheer Them Everywhere.

American Sailors Toss Coins to the Street Sweepers and Unemployed and Police Fear Riots May Result—Marines Spend Money Freely and Old London Is Glad—Street Traffic Blocked

London Nov 17 —Staid old England suffered a rude shock today While it has always been accepted as a tradition in the service that 'Nothing is too good for the American seaman London is having that fact driven home with a force that is to say the least embarassing for the sailors from the American battleship Mississippi touring the city

The Mississippi is a lucky ship, her crews win races her scrappers win prize fights with her so often that the thing has become monotonous The result is that the ship's safe is usually well jammed with coin of the realm and when the liberty party from the big warship went ashore yesterday, every man of them had a roll They steered a straight course for London Bands of them, today engaged big "rubber neck" motor-cars from the top of which they viewed the sights of the metropolis and tossed coins to the street sweepers and the unemployed who were following the vehicles Traffic was blocked along Fleet street and the Strand and the police for a time were unable to control the situation

Police Busy

It finally became necessary to demand that the seamen desist, the police explaining that if they kept the thing up actual rioting would result

Baffled in this mode of fun, the seamen began hiring smaller vehicles The more stylish the outfit they could find the better they seemed to like it The city had never seen anything like it before and the ancient American motto, Spending money like a sailor, has now been adopted by Londoners, as indicating the acme of extravagance

The American sailors are being accorded every hospitality by the various patriotic societies and an effort is being made to make a return of the courtesies extended to the British seamen who participated in the visits of Prince Luis, of Battenburg and Admiral Seymour to New York

SATURDAY - - NOVEMBER 19

When Governor Harmon undertakes to keep that promise of a ten-mill limit on the tax levy, there will be a strain that all Ohio will feel. There has been a lot of "con" talk about the tax levy, and the 'outrage' of elevated values. Our notion has been that the tax levy has to be high enough to pay the fixed charges of public administration. The top notch must be high enough for that. Lesser levies must come through municipal and county public service that will cut down expenditures.

The barbers of Marion have boosted the price of shaving fifty per cent. The iniquitous tariff law again. Shaves are imported, of course. Just as sure as Champ Clark grasps the speakership gavel and smasher the customs houses, shaves will come down again. Meanwhile, the fellow who kicks on this increased cost of beardless living, can shave himself. And the baldordash about the tariff grows so enormously that even Democratic politicians will see the joke in it, after a while.

Mr. Pomerene seems all right enough for the senate, but the fellows who make books on political racing will give Mr. Pomerene the short end of a six-to-one shot. The Canton statesman did not get away with his job impressively at Dayton, and the bosses are not strong for him. The Democratic party in Ohio is terrifically opposed to bosses during a campaign, but eats out of the bosses' hands when it comes to choosing men for office.

E. R. Bothrick, the Democrat elected to congress in the old Nineteenth district, the Western reserve, says that he is for a "tariff that contemplates the difference in cost of productions in this country and in foreign countries." Sure! Bothrick is another campaign fakir. He denounces protection as a robbery during the campaign, but favors it when election is over. Botrick is no less consistent than scores of congressional winners in his own party. The people love to be humbugged.

If Mr. McLean really is a candidate for the senate, as some of our Democratic exchanges hold, we see some mighty flush times ahead for Democracy. John has always had the reputation of being a royal spender.

Governor Harmon is expected now to revive his scheme of turning over the unfortunate wards of the state in public institutions to the care of a political board of four members. This will deprive the state and the inmates of the institutions of the disinterested services of the boards of trustees and give practically absolute authority to the superintendents, many of whom are inexperienced and inefficient. And there will be no compensating advantage. The institutions are being conducted cheaply enough, but not progressively enough, as it is.

The Standard Oil company has won a legal contention in the Tennessee courts which saves to its treasury over $29,000,000. Under these circumstances it will not miss the hundred thousand dollars put into the Democratic campaign fund in Ohio this year, "no part of which was to be used to help the candidacy of Frank S. Monnett for congress."

Out of the Republican wreck in Ohio, Frank B. Willis stands a commanding figure. Willis outrode the storm of unrest and insurgency and will be a commanding figure in Ohio's delegation to congress. He may not get much chance to prove his metal prior to 1912, but Ohio Republicans will have an eye on Willis. Out of that band of Ohio Republicans in congress the next Ohio leader will likely be chosen. Howland, Taylor, Willis and Longworth will be watched eagerly. They are all young, all strong, all ambitious. It is a quartet to study for the next two years.

We note that Congressman Anderson is being mentioned as the next Democratic nominee for governor. It is a trifle early to get gay with such speculation, but Mr. Anderson has shown running ability that entitles him to mention. It may be, however, that two years of actual responsibility will muss up the situation so that a Democratic nomination will not be so alluring in 1912 as it is in the wake of victory in 1910. There can not be two more years of evasion. Responsibility is fixed now. We shall expect some constructive accomplishment, and the retreat of the grafting hordes. Nothing less than this convincing spectacle will satisfy the expectant people of Ohio.

We can't help but feel that, if the New York World is honest in its statement that Theodore Roosevelt is dead, it would show better grace on its part to speak with more respect of the departed.

WILLIAM T. SMITH FOR SPEAKER OF THE HOUSE

Representative William T. Smith, of Marion county, is favorably mentioned for speaker of the Ohio house of representatives, and the Star hopes Mr. Smith will achieve this distinguished honor. He is as capable as any member of his party in the general assembly. He is on the square, and that is the great essential. This paper doesn't subscribe to all the political things that Smith stands for, but we count him honest, and an honest speaker will contribute largely to an honest session of the legislature. Big problems will be up for solution, and Mr. Smith has capacity. It does not matter that Mr Smith is rated as a liberal on the local option question. Hundreds of dry advocates helped to elect him, and they have helped the liberals to a victory in Ohio, more pronounced than many have yet realized. Mr. Smith will be frank about that. It is not the only question of moment. There is the big utilities commission problem. Mr. Smith's party and the reelected governor are committed to such an enactment. No make-shift will do. It must be real regulation, fair, ample, preservative—it must be right, fixing a square deal for the public service corporations and a square deal for the people whom they serve. The canal problem ought to be solved, and Mr Smith has uttered more common sense about the poor old canals than most men who have been willing to express themselves. The Star doesn't wish to mar Mr Smith's chances by burdening him with its approval, but we commend the Marion representative because we think he is honest and on the square, because he is far above many legislators who make far more noise and do vastly less work, and because we like to see a Marion man go to the front. The Star is sincere about this boosting business, and will cease to shine when it is not.

FRANK DEALING WITH BIG PUBLIC QUESTIONS.

The Cleveland Plain Dealer is one of the big and successful newspapers of Ohio. And it is a real newspaper, notably fair in publishing the news. But the Plain Dealer lacks editorial consistency. Throughout the recent Ohio campaign it shouted itself hoarse about the infamy of the Payne tariff law. It stirred much of the unrest that brought overwhelming Republican defeat. We supposed that the Plain Dealer was honest in its outcry, as thousands of readers must have thought. But that great paper was evidently playing on popular prejudice for political gain. Listen to the Plain Dealer after the battle is over. In its Thursday issue, under the heading "Caution Is Necessary," that paper says:

"[illegible] of the Republican victory upon the [illegible] for Democratic leaders to [illegible] to immediate revision [illegible]. But unless [illegible] careful Taft's magnificent [illegible] will be turned into bitter defeat. The tariff is a two-edged sword, to be handled with caution when it is necessary to handle it at all. It behooves the sixty-second congress, therefore, to go slow on the tariff."

You bet. It is one thing to cry out against a tariff enactment for campaign purposes, but it is quite another thing to accept responsibility and do things. Note the rise of the Plain Dealer's post-election apprehension. It says:

"Yet these manifest truths do not alter the fact that danger lies in the proposal to give the tariff law an immediate, radical revision. Industry thrives on conservatism. It is highly sensitive to sudden changes. Furthermore it has a way of upsetting the calculations of the party, newly in power.

"Of course the tariff law must be amended. That is the impressive message of Tuesday's balloting. But it would be business and political suicide to undertake the task without due preparation and without a full appreciation of the penalty that would follow haste."

What a miraculous shift of attitude is this! It is the "outrageous Payne law" during the campaign, but "danger lies in the proposal to give the tariff an immediate, radical revision." The last paragraph sounds like the section of a Republican speech during the campaign, but the conviction never reached the Plain Dealer until popular prejudice had been turned to a Democratic victory.

Our notion is that an "outrage" and "legalized robbery" can't be corrected too quickly. The Plain Dealer was not content that the Payne law should be given a fair trial while the campaign was on, and we fail to see Democratic logic in toleration now. The country has declared for Democracy's hostility to the present tariff law. If the Plain Dealer was honest in the campaign, let it demand the prompt practice of Democratic preaching. Let's put this tariff adjustment to the test. Let Democracy make good it's campaign talk.

Yes, "industry thrives on conservatism," and campaigns are often run on fakes.

PREPARING TO ENACT A MODIFIED ROSE LAW

The announcement is already made that Senator Thomas Dean will introduce his modification of the Rose county local-option law as soon as the general assembly convenes. The proposed Dean bill is practically the Beale law, for its purpose is to separate cities from the county unit, and permit them to vote on the saloon question by themselves. Marion, for example, would determine the saloon question without the joined verdict of the voters of the county outside the city limits. Such a law will be passed at the coming session. The Anti-Saloon league admits the "wet" control of the senate, and claims the house by only three or four votes. And there the league is mistaken. The "wets" control the house. They will prove it when the final test comes.

Nothing is more apparent than the signal victory of the "wets" in the recent Ohio campaign. The Democratic campaign management played the "liberal" game to the limit, and at the same time played the susceptible "drys" to assist in the "wet" victory. Here in Marion we saw several extreme temperance advocates playing directly with the bootleggers. The defeat of Senator Cameron, one of the best legislators the Thirteenth district ever elected, is proof enough. Cameron's district had voted "dry" by 8,000. His record is good, his capacity proven, his cleanliness unquestioned. But former "drys," who have changed their minds, and impractical "drys" who demand pretended teetotaling as an essential to their toleration, helped to defeat him. Perhaps they didn't intend it, but the result is the same.

Licking and Muskingum counties are striking proofs of the "wet" victory. Licking had its horror, and the "drys" approved the chief executive for removing the recreant mayor, and the "wets" voted the same way with an assurance that the law would be amended. Muskingum county is in a turmoil over the "wet" and "dry" conflict. Ordinarily it is strongly Republican. The quiet, determined work of the liberals made it nearly 2,000 Democratic, and it helped to a wet victory.

Of course, Governor Harmon will be in a position to discourage excessive changes, but the "wets" will never be content without a modification of the present law. There will be a showing of hands. The Dean bill will be passed, and it will not be vetoed. The most that the "drys" can expect will be the withholding of the executive's signature of approval. It can become a law without that, just as a half hundred laws became effective through the enactments of the last general assembly.

One can hardly blame the farmers for objecting to hunting on their premises if many hunters are like two coming to our attention this week, who went out after rabbits and brought home two fine Plymouth Rock chickens.

If the Democratic general assembly finds itself contemplating a paucity of senatorial timber, permit Marion modestly to favor the name of Judge Caleb H. Norris. The Judge meets every requirement of forgivable plutocracy, for he has a large farm, where crops are bumper and compensation is comforting, but he is a Democrat of the big D type; has a personal popularity that is state wide, and he is big enough, mentally as well as physically, to make a senatorial toga seem fitly placed. And he doesn't belong to the machine crowd of aspirants named, nor the pretenders, and would make a real senator. We will wager that the Democratic legislators from northwestern Ohio would rally to his candidacy with enthusiasm. We know of but one objection to the Judge—he drives an automobile. But our word for it, he drives with exceeding care. We are quite in earnest about the availability of Judge Norris. He would make the most notable Democratic United States senator since the day of that noblest old Roman of them all, Allen G. Thurman.

The triumphant Democracy is going to chase Harvey D. Garber to the woods. That's right. Garber was the originator of the graft probe. He ought to be exiled.

AS SEEN IN TOLEDO.

The following editorial is taken from the Toledo Times, which most enthusiastically supported Governor Harmon throughout the recent campaign.

Mr. Harding.

Political fortune has not favored Warren G. Harding to the extent hoped for by his friends, but his position before the people of Ohio, following his defeat for governor, is one which any man might envy.

Mr. Harding's candidacy occurred under conditions most unfortunate for himself and his party. They were perhaps the most extraordinary and the most discouraging ever confronting any candidate in this state. He found his party split in twain on national issues and some of its former leaders discredited by the revelations of a Democratic administration. Former Republican strongholds were the centers of attack and dissension. Both United States senators were repudiated by large elements among the Republican voters. The leaders quarreled openly, and the rank and file were dismayed and discouraged. The national administration, rightly or wrongly, was not popular, and ex-President Roose added firebrands to the general flagration of Republican interes

Into this chaos Mr. Har plunged like a knight of the teenth century in an une tournament. Above suspicion self, he claimed the confidenc others, but the disruption of party rendered useless every peal. SURPRISING ARE THE CONDITIONS REPORTED

In the Various School Buildings of the City.

THE HEALTH OFFICER MAKES HIS REPORT

Tobacco Is Used by Little Ones. Many Are in Need of Glasses—Ear, Nose and Throat Trouble Common. Recommendations Made by Health Officer.

The members of the board of health held a meeting Monday afternoon and allowed the bills for meeting the expenses of the health department during the month of October. The remainder of the time of the meeting was given to hearing and discussing the report of Health Officer Bain, the report being an interesting one and resulting in lengthy discussion.

According to the report of the health officer, the following diseases were reported to him during the month:

Typhoid fever, 4; measles, 1; chicken pox, 1; diphtheria, 1; scarlet fever, 1.

During the month the health officer found one building being used in violation of the state sanitary law and this was ordered closed by him. One outbuilding was declared a nuisance and ordered removed or remodeled. The health officer reported that he visited eighteen meat shops during the month and made an inspection, and that the proprietors of five of the places were notified to comply with the sanitary laws or be subject to being closed. In five of the shops some of the meat was condemned, the total amount condemned being 210 pounds. This was sent to the garbage disposal plant. In a number of the markets mice and rats were abundant.

Monthly Reports.

Believing that great good can be accomplished from a monthly sanitary and hygenic report from the city schools to the board of public health, the health officer prepared suitable blanks for the purpose and submitted them to the school authorities for consideration, the plan meeting the hearty approval of the superintendent of the schools and being endorsed by Rev. Father Joseph Denning and being adopted in the parochial schools.

The object of the report is to better acquaint the people with the needs and conditions of the children in the schools, to get in touch with the many children whose opportunities are being lost for the want of glasses and other medical attention, to eliminate, if possible, the use of tobacco by the children of the schools, tobacco being used to a large degree and to assist in securing more accurate statistics of contagious diseases, of which reports are now required by the state laws.

Use of Tobacco.

The health officer reported that the use of tobacco by school children has reached an appalling stage and demands the efforts of every citizen and parent to combat it. The teachers of the city report that eighty-seven pupils between the ages of six and sixteen years, with no less than twelve from the first three grades are users of tobacco.

The enrollment of the schools is 3,010, the average daily attendance 2,755, the number of children wearing glasses is ninety, and number reported by the teachers to be in need of glasses, thirty-five.

The importance of this report can be estimated from the fact that one teacher at the Oak Street building reports that six children of the age of eleven years are needing glasses. The report showed vermin from one room at the building.

There were no negative answers to the question of whether any of the pupils had ear, nose or throat trouble, thirty-nine of the teachers answering "yes."

Twenty-Four Affected.

One teacher at the Silver Street building reports that of the thirty-nine pupils in her grade, twenty-four are affected, and she further states that fifty per cent. of the pupils attend school without headwear.

Nineteen teachers express dissatisfaction regarding the sanitary condition of their rooms, the causes being of such a nature that they can be corrected easily. A number of the teachers at the State Street building state that they are working under great disadvantage for lack of light on dark days. The health officer further recommended to the board that no consultation fees be allowed physicians for counsel in contagious diseases unless ordered by the health officer or board of health. This recommendation was approved by the board. The health officer stated that he had a new code of rules and regulations governing the board of health to submit to a committee to be appointed by President D. O. Weeks. The board directed the health officer to carry out his plans as suggested.

TODAY'S FASHION HINT.

NARROW GOWNS ARE ACCOMPANIED BY MAMMOTH FURS.

Wraps and coats are built wide across the shoulders and huge fur collars accentuate this width, which contrasts queerly with the extremely narrow skirts of the moment. This fur set of black fox is most luxurious in size, the collar falling below the shoulders at the back and reaching almost to the knees in front, while the muff is made of an entire animal skin, with head, paws and brushes intact. In contrast to the big furs the jaunty little turban seems smaller than it really is. These close-fitting turbans, coming far down over the hair, are ideal for breezy, blustery winter days and make a very appropriate combination with the wintry furs.

REQUIEM HIGH MASS AT ST. MARY'S CHURCH

For the Late Mrs. Frank A. Huber Tuesday Morning.

CASKET IS OPENED AT THE CEMETERY

To Permit the Relatives To Take a Last Look at the Remains of Their Loved One—Daughter Arrives from Washington; Sister from Springfield, Missouri.

Requiem high mass was celebrated for the soul of Mrs. Frank A. Huber, who died of diphtheria early Monday morning, by Father Joseph Denning at St. Mary's church Tuesday morning at 8 o'clock. The edifice was well filled with relatives and friends.

Because of the nature of the disease, the remains were not taken to the church, but to the cemetery from the house in an air-tight casket. At the grave the lid was removed to permit the relatives to have a last look at the remains through the glass covering before consigning the body to its last resting place.

Miss Fay Huber, the daughter of the deceased, who has been attending a seminary at Washington, arrived home Tuesday morning, and Mr. and Mrs. A. O'Hara, the latter a sister of Mrs. Huber, and Miss May Ella O'Brien, a niece, arrived shortly after, from Springfield, Missouri. Also Mr. and Mrs. Will Snider, of Logan, the latter a niece, were here for the funeral.

All the nearer relatives, save one sister, Sister Irenaea, of Denver, Colorado, were present at the grave.

PLEADS GUILTY AND IS GIVEN $10 FINE

Willis Millisor Up on the Carpet Before the Mayor.

COMPANION TO GO TO JUDGE SPENCER

William Free, Being of Tender Years, Will Be Looked After by the Juvenile Court—Beaver Home Is Invaded by Chief of Police Klinefelter and Officer Cusick.

Willis Millisor, aged eighteen, and William Free, aged sixteen, who confessed to Chief Klinefelter of being guilty of stealing chickens at the home of Charles Simpson, five miles south of the city, Saturday afternoon, succeeded in adjusting matters with O. J. Clevenger, to whom they sold the chickens. However, the boys were arraigned before the mayor to answer to the charge that Simpson had brought against them. Millisor pleaded guilty and was fined $10 and the costs in the case.

Owing to Free's age he was arraigned before Probate Judge Spencer and his hearing was set for Thursday morning at 9 o'clock.

Sunday afternoon Chief Klinefelter and Officer Cusick visited the Beaver home, near the Pennsylvania tracks on north Main street, on complaint that a number of people were seen coming from the house intoxicated. The chief and the officer were permitted to pass through the house until the chief informed Beaver that they had no search warrant, whereupon a stop was put to the invasion by Beaver. The officers did not find any drunks at the place, although Beaver had a few gentlemen visitors and some intoxicants in the house. A quart bottle of whisky and an empty beer bottle were taken in charge by the officers, but as there is no convicting evidence against Beaver it is hardly likely that an affidavit charging him with furnishing intoxicants will be filed.

IS VICTIM OF LEGAL BUNGLING

COURT STARTLED BY INFORMATION

When Barrister Tobin Withdraws from Case.

Justice Darling Says He Can Not Understand Actions of the American's Counsel—Crippen's Leading Lawyer Sends Another into Court To Ask for an Appeal but Halt Prepared—Criticism Heard.

London, Nov. 14.—"A victim of legal bungling," or, worse still, "a judicial sacrifice," is the epitaph that might properly be placed on the tomb of Dr H. H. Crippen, when he is hanged November 23, for the murder of his wife, Belle Elmore, in the opinion of the big majority of English lawyers.

Nearly every one who followed the famous murder case is convinced that somewhere along the line of procedure a great scandal was concealed. People everywhere are asking: Was Crippen sacrificed that Ethel Clare Leneve might go free?

When Crippen was brought back to England from Canada, eminent English lawyers who will bet on anything were willing to wager five to one that he would be acquitted. It is hard to find a parallel for such a startling reversal, and there was no development during the trial, according to legal experts, that adequately explains it.

Here are some of the important facts that are now being emphasized to support the charge of the "peculiar conduct" of Crippen's defense.

Solicitor Newton, who prepared Crippen's case, was well supplied with funds, believed to have been contributed by a leading newspaper, and was well able to hire the best barrister in England to conduct the actual trial of the case. Instead of doing so, Newton went outside of London and selected A. A. Tobin, of Liverpool.

But Half Prepared.

Tobin is a provincial lawyer, with a reputation made wholly in the handling of criminal cases. He was handicapped by the methods of procedure at "Old Bailey" as greatly as a small town lawyer in America would have been when thrown into an important case in New York. Only Solicitor Newton sent Barrister Tobin into court but half prepared, and the latter had but half mastered the slovenly case presented to him when the trial opened.

When the trial of Miss Leneve, Crippen's typist, was called immediately following the conviction of Crippen, Newton, still in charge, employed F. E. Smith, one of the ablest practitioners at the English bar. Smith got Miss Leneve off with marvelous an effort.

What the public wants to know is why Newton engaged an untried barrister for Crippen, charged with murder, and the best counsel that could be obtained for Miss Leneve, charged with the lesser offense of being an accessory after the fact.

Newton prepared Miss Leneve's case for Smith just as he had Crippen's case for Tobin. And the very first thing Smith did—on the strength of the case Newton furnished him—was to refer to Crippen, in the plainest of terms, as "a murderer beyond the shadow of question."

One Thing Clear.

When the court of criminal appeals sat to decide on a date for hearing Crippen's appeal, Barrister Huntley Jenkins, Crippen's junior counsel, asked for all the time the court would allow him to prepare the case because the senior counsel, who had unexpectedly withdrawn from the case. The court was startled by this information.

"For a barrister to withdraw from a murder case," said Justice Darling, who was presiding, "and after his client had been convicted and had an appeal still pending, is most unusual. I don't understand it."

And the very next day the London Sunday Times announced that Tobin was not only going to argue the Crippen appeal, but that he had never withdrawn from the case at all. What all this tangle meant no one has yet been able to learn, but it is considered significant in connection with these other peculiar features of the case. But one thing is clear. There was trouble of some sort between Crippen's defenders, and the trouble cost damaging to the unfortunate little doctor's interests.

UNEXPECTEDLY PLEADS GUILTY

Seneca County Man Is Fined $500.

MARYSVILLE JUDGE SITS IN THE CASE

Of Former County Commissioner Today.

Frank J. Fry Admits Accepting Bribe from a Former County Engineer of $500 for Getting Him the Job of Map-Making—Judge Tells Fry He Can Redeem Himself by Right Living.

Bowling Green, O., Nov. 14—Frank J. Fry, former county commissioner of Seneca county, unexpectedly pleaded guilty here today, to accepting a bribe from former County Engineer Charles T. Peters, and was fined $500 and costs by Common Pleas Judge John M. Broderick, of Marysville.

Fry, who is sixty-nine, faced the court, apparently broken in health and spirit. The court was informed also that Fry's wife and daughter were seriously ill.

"You were elected county commissioner, at your own solicitation," the court said, "and the people put confidence in you. You have betrayed your trust, but it is not that you can regain the respect of your fellowmen by right living."

Fry, the state charged, was trapped by Engineer Peters, to whom he went with an offer to land Peters the job of map-maker for the tax appraisers in 1908 for the sum of $500. The map-making job was worth $2,000. Peters consulted Prosecutor James and later procured a record of the offer by Fry with the affidavits of two other deputies who were bidden.

Fry and a brother commissioner were indicted in Seneca county April, 1909, following the testimony of a janitor at the Tiffin courthouse and of Peters. The janitor swore that he had been forced to pay part of his salary to Fry to hold his job. This man later committed suicide. Fry declared he had been hounded to madness by telephone calls, threats and condemnation.

Fry procured a change of venue to Wood county, after the trial of the case had been delayed for months.

THE SENATORIAL CONTEST BEGINS

Boom for Atlee Pomerene Is Growing.

THE CANTON MAN HAS MANY VOTES

But the Supporters of Hanley Are Busy.

Today a Democrat Who Is Interested in Pomerene Shows Figures That Cantonian Has Big Majority in the Democratic Caucus with Chances for Getting More in a Few Days. How Matter Stands.

Columbus, O., Nov. 14.—The fur is beginning to fly already in the senatorial contest. Today a big Democrat in the state-house who is very much interested in Atlee Pomerene, had figures showing that the Canton man has 34 votes in the Democratic caucus, with the chances good for getting six more within the next few days. There will be eighty-nine Democrats in the caucus, with forty-five necessary for a choice.

The Pomerene figures include the eleven Democrats from Cuyahoga county, two from Stark, fourteen from counties in northwestern Ohio, with the rest scattered over the state.

No additional claims have been made, today, for Edward W. Hanley, of Dayton. The five legislators from the Dayton district are pledged to him and it is understood he has three more from the Third congressional district.

Objections Made.

Hanley supporters are beginning to offer arguments why Pomerene should not be elected senator. One of them is that in the event of Governor Harmon being nominated for president in 1912, by the Democrats, he would resign the governorship and that Pomerene would then become governor. Should Pomerene resign the lieutenant governorship and become senator, Governor Harmon would be required to appoint a lieutenant governor and this stranger, as it were, might eventually become governor. Pomerene, it is being urged by his senatorial opponents, is also in line for the gubernatorial nomination in two years.

The answer of Pomerene men to this line of talk is that the nomination of Harmon for president is decidedly uncertain and that Pomerene won't give up his present chances of landing the senatorship for any uncertainty in connection with the Ohio governorship.

Harmon After Garber.

Columbus, O., Nov. 14. That Governor Harmon is very much in earnest in his determination to drive Harvey Garber from his high position in the Democratic party is indicated by his latest statement on the subject.

"I am going to fight Garber every inch of the way and will hit hard in any direction where his hand may show," said the Governor. "Members of the assembly will either be for my administration or for Garber. There is and will be no middle ground."

Garber is showing a fighting spirit and won't step down and out without a struggle. To several of his friends, he made it clear that the Harmon administration can not cause him to resign as national committeeman from Ohio, and he indicates that he will continue his activity in Democratic affairs if such a course suits his fancy.

In a statement, taking a fling at State Chairman Nichols, Garber intimated that he had aided a number of Democratic candidates for the legislature to carry their districts. If this is true the Harmon forces are going to try to find what Garber's interest was and where he got the money to carry on such work.

THE SUPREME COURT HANDS DOWN DECISION

Long and Short Haul Clause Is Upheld Today.

Jefferson City, Mo., Nov. 14—The Missouri supreme court, today, upheld the "long and short haul" statute in order, in a decision for a rehearing in the suit against the Missouri Pacific lines.

The ruling disposes of the case and sustains the state's contention that the railroads should charge no more for the shipment of freight for a short distance than they do for a longer distance. The roads will now appeal to the United States supreme court.

DISGUSTED OVER TEDDY'S DEFEAT

Wealthy New Jersey Man Will Leave United States.

Orange, N. J., Nov. 14. Disgusted at last Tuesday's apparent repudiation of Colonel Roosevelt, Winthrop E. Scarritt, wealthy resident of this place, today, put on the market his magnificent home and announced his intention of leaving the country. Scarritt inserted the following advertisement in the New York newspapers:

"Disgusted Republican offers his beautiful country house to any victorious Democrat and intends to leave a land that turns down Teddy. For terms and detailed description, address S. Toby, No. 44, Main avenue, Orange, N. J."

Scarritt declares he was in England at the funeral of King Edward and saw Roosevelt when he was hailed and acclaimed on all sides as the accused voice and conscience of the American people. To return to the United States and find that this people like others, "Is not a prophet honored save in his own country" was the remark.

CARUSO, THE TENOR, ON LOVE AND ART

Famous Italian Singer Says an Artist Shouldn't Marry.

New York, Nov. 14. If one man more than another ought to know what kind of a man a woman loves, the man is Enrico Caruso, the tenor. Yet, when asked, today, what sort of a man a woman liked best, he threw up his hands.

"What do I know," he asked. "It would seem to me that the answer is she generally likes a different one."

Caruso admitted that women loved artists and his explanation was charmingly conceited.

"Of course women like artists. The artist, the great artist, is one of three parts, one part soul, one part intelligence, one part beauty. Likewise the woman. Not every woman, but those who are not, wish to be.

"An artist should never marry. He does, but the result is frequently unhappy. For his art should be all his life. He eats for it, sleeps for it, breathes for it. Everything else is consumed to feed the great flame."

COACHMAN REWARDED FOR FAITHFULNESS

Retired Manufacturer Gives Henderson $10,000 Sunday.

Oneonta, N. Y., Nov. 14.—Grover Henderson, coachman for Joseph N. L. G. Muller, retired manufacturer, is, today, $10,000 richer than yesterday because he has been faithful to his job.

Muller, who has been ill, yesterday, called Henderson into his sickroom and announced that he was going to give him five dollars as he had always been a good boy. He gave him instead a check for $5,000. Henderson was so grateful that Muller immediately wrote out a second check also for $5,000.

Henderson went into consultation with his wife and two children, today, to plan what they will do with the money.

Condition of Corps.

A financial statement of the work of the Marion corps of the Salvation Army for the three months ending September 25 has been prepared by V. P. Martin, captain of the corps. In the report it is shown that the collections during this time amounted to $246.74 and with the donations and other income a total of $328.82 was obtained. This sum was required by the corps to cover the rent, light and heat and general expenses for the three months.

NEGRO HELD ON MURDER CHARGE

Accused of Killing New Jersey School Girl.

CHILD'S FATHER VOWS VENGEANCE

And Police Guard the Black Man in Court.

Negro Known as "Black Diamond" Is Arraigned for Examination, At Which It Is Declared He Uses in Killing Little Child Is Exhibited—Mother of Victim Is in Serious Condition.

Asbury Park, N. J., Nov. 14.—When Thomas Williams, a negro, known among his associates as "Black Diamond" was arraigned for examination in the police court here today on a murder charge, unusual precautions were taken to protect him. Nearly all of the members of the town's police force were on duty in the building.

Williams is accused of maltreating and killing Marie Smith, the nine-year-old school girl whose mutilated body was found in a clump of bushes, yesterday.

Coroner Robert Purdy and Doctors Joseph Ankerman and Earl Wagner, who performed the autopsy and Chief of Police, William H. Smith, who exhibited Williams' ax with which it is alleged he struck the child down, were the chief witnesses before the coroner's jury.

Girl Is Maltreated.

Peter Smith, father of the murdered child, was not permitted to enter the courtroom. He has vowed vengeance against the murderer of his daughter, and the police were fearful that in his overworked and distracted state he might attack Williams.

The mother of the little victim is in a very serious condition.

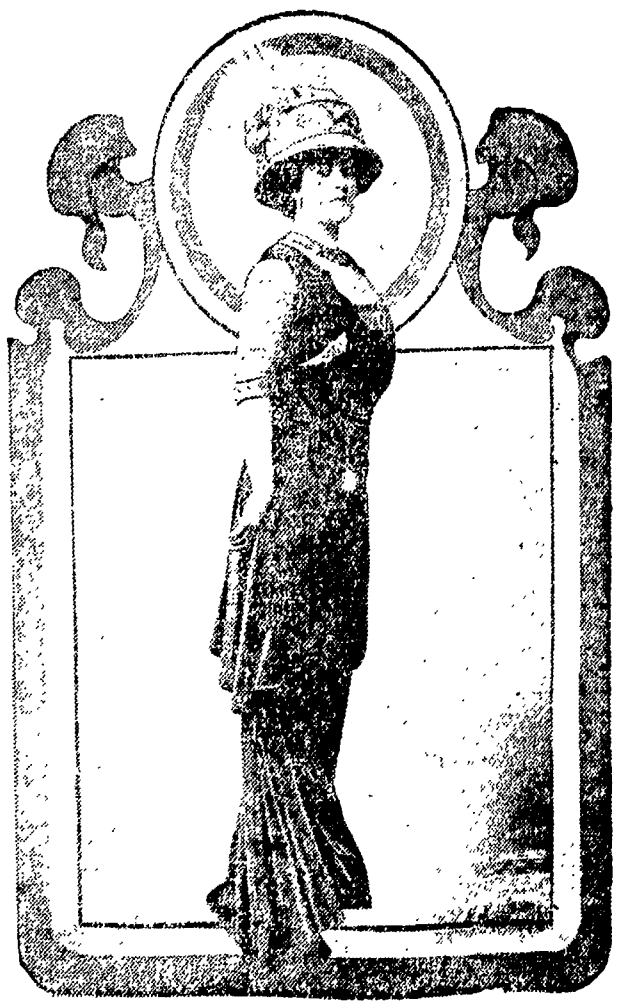
The autopsy showed that the child's skull had been split open with a heavy instrument, presumably an ax, her face had been terribly bitten and scratched by her assailant, and that she had been choked to death with the ribbon with which her hair had been bound. She had also been maltreated.

Wednesday night, some twelve hours after the child disappeared, the patch of goods in which the body was found was set on fire, but the village fire department extinguished the blaze.

Attempted Holdup.

George Wallgraves, residing on east Church street, believes that he was the victim of an attempted holdup at the Leader street viaduct, Friday night, between 10 and 11 o'clock. Wallgraves had been calling on a girl friend and was enroute home. He says he had a premonition that something was going to happen and ran under the bridge as fast as he could. Somebody yelled at him to stop, but he refused to stop, and then he heard the report of a revolver.

TODAY'S FASHION HINT.



VELVET IS USED FOR TUNICS OVER OTHER MATERIALS.

Velvet is the fashionable fabric now and when the whole dress is not built of this luxurious stuff part of it is sure to be. This graceful frock, worn by a charming actress now playing in New York, has a tunic of the new, very thin velvet in a deep prune color over a skirt of prune-colored permo. The upper bodice—or guimpe—is made of silver tulle laid over flesh-colored chiffon, and the motifs of embroidery are in suave and orchid shades, harmonizing with the deep prune color of the body of the gown.

CREWE HAS NEW POLICY FOR INDIA

EARL OF CREWE

London, Nov. 14—The Earl of Crewe, the new secretary of state for India, will sail from England early in December to make a tour of the country. The earl has long sought the new post, as he has some radical reforms in store for India. He is going to try to persuade some of the princes of India that they can get along without so many jewels and the people should be given lighter taxation. King George has been informed of this policy and is said to have agreed with it. Many of the old politicians of England and the army officers declare such a policy will only result in winning the ill will of the princes and that serious trouble will follow.

A ROMANCE OF TRUE LOVE IS CULMINATED

Prince Victor, French Pretender, Weds King Leopold's Daughter.

Turin, Italy, Nov. 14—Strange as it may seem, the wedding, today of Prince Victor Jerome Frederic Bonaparte the French pretender and Princess Clementine, daughter of the late King Leopold of Belgium, was the result of a romance of true love.

The ceremony was performed in the chapel of the Royal castle of Moncalieri and was unostentatious, the bride being in mourning for her father. The religious ceremony was performed by the Bishop of Biella and the civil ceremony by the mayor.

Prince Victor is thirty-eight while bride is ten years his junior.

SOCIALIST VOTE CAST IN STATE

Gains Made in Counties Now Reported.

GAINS BIGGEST IN LARGEST COUNTIES

Total Vote Will Reach Nearly 100,000.

In Thirteen Counties Reported, Harmon Receives 36,531 as Compared to 40,437 in 1908, While Harding Gets 31,307 as Compared with 43,401 Cast for Harris Two Years Ago.

Columbus, O., Nov. 14.—On a basis of official returns already in the hands of Secretary of State Carmi Thompson, the Socialist vote cast in Ohio, last Tuesday, will be between 95,000 and 100,000.

In thirteen small counties that have reported, the Socialist candidate for governor received 1,942 votes, compared to 881 in the same counties for the party's nominee two years ago. In nearly every county the vote was doubled.

The five big counties of the state will show enormous gains for the Socialists. In Franklin county the returns will show a gain of nearly 1,100 per cent. over two years ago.

In the thirteen counties officially reported to the secretary of state Governor Harmon received 36,531 as compared to 40,737 in 1908, while Warren G. Harding received 31,307 as compared to 43,401 for Andrew L. Harris two years ago.

These figures show an unusually large falling off in the total number of votes cast this year, and demonstrate that most of the stay-at-homes were Republicans.

The counties that have reported are Auglaize, Clinton, Crawford, Defiance, Delaware, Fulton, Gallia, Geauga, Greene, Harrison, Hocking, Ottawa and Preble.

The Canadian department of agriculture, through the dairy and cold storage commissioner, has arranged to forward 2,000 cases of peaches from the Ontario fruit belt as trial shipments to the English markets during the present season.

PAPA KILGALLEN SPEAKS HIS MIND

But De Beaufert Is Chipper as Ever.

Windy City Steel Millionaire Says Noble Son-in-Law Is Worsted in an Affray at the Kilgallen Mansion and That His Daughter Must Seek an Immediate Divorce from the Count.

Chicago, Nov. 14—Assertions by Steel Millionaire Martin Kilgallen that he had "put the boots" to his noble son-in-law, Count Mouraik de Beaufort, during an affray in the Kilgallen mansion and that he would immediately start a divorce action against the nobleman, and the countess' assertions that talk of a divorce is "an absurdity" and that the count is a "dear boy," and by the wife of the millionaire that the count is a son-in-law of whom any mother could be proud, are adding no little to the gaiety of Chicago.

And while the papa and mama of the "Little Miss Millions" the count won are divided as to their treatment of that worthy, he is standing pat and his countess is at a local hospital with a broken knee cap blissfully ignorant of the family affray and also of the fact that her marital experiences are furnishing gossip for the hoi poloi and columns of copy for every newspaper in the city.

Never since the day Mrs. O'Leary's famous cow kicked over the historic lamp that "started something" in Chicago, has the city rolled in such a morsel of scandal.

Many Yarns Afloat.

Stories of how the count borrowed $3,750 from a London "Shylock" in order to "put on a front" and capture Irma Kilgallen, yarns of how the count had given the Kilgallen chauffeur two black eyes in a four-round scrap, of how he had threatened to "scandalize" the family and of how he had attacked and abused his heiress are many.

That the count really procured advances from an English money broker the better to make a try for his matrimonial prize is vouched for by Attorney Harrison Musgrave, head of Musgrave & Lee, in whose hands the claim of the "Shylock" was placed for collection when the count failed to repay. After a conference here with the count, who admitted he "was a little short," Musgrave looked the case over and decided his client would have to pocket the loss.

Just where the De Beaufert-Kilgallen tangle will end no one at present seems to be able to say. The count is out on bail on a charge of disorderly conduct when he tried to force the entrance to his wife's bedroom in the hospital. Papa Kilgallen swears he will have the divorce. The Count De Beaufert is still chipper and breathes defiance to Papa Kilgallen.

EXPRESS DRIVERS ARE BACK AT WORK NOW

New York Strike Settled After Warm Battle.

New York, Nov. 14.—All of the striking express drivers and helpers were back at work today. For the most part they displayed proudly on their caps union buttons. The report that no man wearing the buttons would be re-employed had stirred up a "Tempest in a teapot" and extra policemen were on hand to preserve order should the strike be renewed. The report proved a fabrication. The companies held to their promise and did not discriminate against any of the former employes.

The congestion in all the depots is great and ten days will be required to clear it up.

The strike breakers are being paid off and furnished transportation to their homes.

MANY ARE KILLED AT LEON, NICARAGUA

That Is Report That Comes from San Juan Del Sur.

New Orleans, Nov. 14.—A special despatch from San Juan Del Sur, Nicaragua, says that many persons have been killed or wounded at Leon following the breaking up of a political meeting by the authorities.

According to the report a Liberal meeting had been called and the authorities ordered the people to disperse. When they refused the soldiers fired on them with machine guns.

Further trouble is feared.

To Investigate Matter.

Kansas City, Mo., Nov. 14.—An investigation of the nativity of Oscar Opet alleged slayer of Police Chief Temple, of Annadarko, and of the details of the shooting will be made by Leon Gomez, Mexican consul here, pursuant to instructions from the Mexican ambassador at Washington.

We'd all rather be right than President till we get the chance.

The Night Aeroplane

In Aeronautical Reserve Uncle Sam Is Being Supplied With Fighting Men of the Air Subject to Call in Case of War

A NATIONAL organization has come in with plus strength this year to summit in time of need. All of the aeroplanists of the country will rally with them that will be trained in their hangars of France, civil and military. And all the aeroplanists who predict them selves skilled the modern warfare. Among these are the best the men who have successfully developed within this new year a half dozen or more of men of daring and dash in front rank of the world's airmen. All are handed to the patriotic enthusiasm of the first machine gun aeroplanist of the world. Most modern engine of destruction to the air going for harmless speck the feet above the ground. These who are ready and willing to risk life and limb in the service of their country. Such is the spirit of the men who have responded to the call of the United States through its Aero Reserve Corps, which was formed by the Aero Club of America, and which is composed of men who have shown their skill in the air and who are willing to place their services at the disposal of the government in case of war.

The men themselves have been quick to respond. Clifford B. Harmon, the amateur aeronaut who holds a number of records, was one of the organizers of the association and holds the rank of chief of staff. As a man who has the endurance record with a million of training in the air more than 48 hours, the altitude record of 21,000 feet, the aeroplane record for sustained flight, who was the first man to circle Manhattan Island in an aeroplane, the first man in America to drop a dynamite bomb, he has a big name to live up to. He is a man of wealth and standing and above the limit of any necessity to live.

Glenn Curtiss is a similar man of great interest in aeronautics to become an associate member and to use his influence toward the furthering of the movement. It is hoped by the organization of the Reserve that its ranks of men of like standing. Each of them is the foremost in his vocation and will bring his skill to the aid of the country in the event of war. The object of the organization is to form a body of men who will be ready at a moment's notice to go to the front in the event of war. The men are anxious that the United States shall have the best aeroplanists in the world. They are anxious that the United States shall have the best aeroplanists in the world. They are anxious that the United States shall have the best aeroplanists in the world.

The result is surprising. The air men themselves have been quick to respond. Clifford B. CHRISTY'S TRIPLE THANKSGIVING

By CARL WILLIAMS

Howard Hilliard came in hasty from the Broad Highway and ran down Howard Christy's street. Several weddings were to take place that evening, but Howard's was the first to be solemnized in the church.

And when the ceremony had quickly but impressively been performed Howard was to depart for the office and in that secretary would be awaiting him.

Mother

In the church upon the front pew on the bride's side sat Nan Copeland, twelve bridesmaids, scores of other relatives and friends of the Grand Central station employees who had formed an aisle way for the bridal party to pass through.

Nan had caught sight of Howard's handsome face as he entered the church, and her own pretty face had flushed with pleasure.

Then she had turned her head and looked down the aisle, but Howard's eyes were fixed on the bride, and Nan's heart sank.

Howard Christy was the handsomest man in the office force, and Nan Copeland was not the only girl employed there who was in love with him.

Nan had been in the office only a few months, but she had learned enough about the other girls to know that they were all trying to attract Howard's attention, and Nan had been no exception to the rule.

Howard had been very kind to her, and Nan had thought that he liked her, but when Miss Dorothy Hamilton, a beautiful girl, came to the office as a stenographer, Howard's attentions to Nan ceased entirely.

Nan had been very much disappointed when Howard failed to ask her to go to the theater with him, but she had never dreamed that he would marry Miss Hamilton.

Nan had been very much surprised when Howard Christy asked
